

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The distribution and size distribution of polishing particles contained in a slurry to be supplied to a polishing unit are measured by a measuring machine. Polishing speed
5 with respect to a wafer is controlled to be constant by controlling a physical quantity such as the rotation speed of a polishing surface plate, the rotation speed of a polishing head or the pressurizing force of the polishing head based on the measurement result.